COTTAGE GROVE, Wis. – Feb. 27, 2009 – Johnson Health Tech North America, Inc. today introduced its new line of Matrix T1 and T3 Series treadmills, which offer a great combination of features and performance at economical prices.

“In today’s economy, everyone is looking for the best value they can get, and that’s what they’ll find in our new Matrix T1 and T3 Series treadmills,” said Andrew Kolman, product manager, treadmills and entertainment JHTNA. “With a solid feature set, a great price and an outstanding warranty, the T1 models are ideal for small, vertical-market facilities while the T3 models let health clubs give their members the performance and durability of commercial equipment at very affordable prices.”

The new T1x, T1xe, T3x and T3xe treadmills boast a sleek and space-efficient design along with the Ultimate Deck System, which absorbs impact for a soft user feel and provides more than 25,000 miles of maintenance-free performance. They also feature a low, 7.5-inch step-up height for easy entering and exiting.

With its integrated TV, the T1xe is perfect for unsupervised fitness facilities, such as those at hotels and apartment complexes.
